Randy Bishop BIO

Randy Bishop is an avid scholar of the War Between the States and an advocate for preservation and restoration of historic battlefields. He has authored several books on the subject and contributed articles for publications such as the Civil War Courier and Country Discoveries.

Bishop is a history teacher at Middleton High School and an adjunct for Jackson State Community College. A six-time recipient of the Teacher of the Year Award, Bishop was recognized in Who's Who Among America's Teachers and serves as the president of his local elementary and high-school parent-teacher organization.

He earned a bachelor of science in management marketing from Union University and a master of education from the University of Memphis. A member of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, Bishop is also involved with several preservation groups, including Civil War Preservation Trust, Tennessee Civil War Preservation Association, and Parker's Crossroads Battlefield Association.

When not teaching or working with historic sites, Bishop serves on the Middleton Library Board and the Hardeman County Library Board. He also collects historic relics and enjoys traveling with his family. Bishop and his family live in Middleton, Tennessee.

HONEST ABE

Honest Abe ---Before he was 21 years old, becoming U.S. President was his goal.
So he became a lawyer, winning cases for slave owners and the wealthy railroad.
He became a leader in the Republican Party's powerful fold.
Honest Abe ---Claiming the War was to free the slaves was a lie and disgrace.
He said the Black slaves were so different and inferior to the White race.

He suggested moving them back to Africa,
to live in a more suitable place.
Honest Abe ---He tricked the South into firing the first shot of the War of 4 years of death and pain.
He was determined to keep the South in the United States for the North's financial gain.
He ordered War on his own people in the South
for pronounced greed.
He had no permission from Congress, and knew
every state had the right to secede.
Honest Abe ---Without consulting Congress,
in the middle of the War,
he ordered the Emancipation Proclamation,
he said to "free" the Southern slaves.
It did not, but this lie gained momentum
even into these modern days.
Honest Abe --- He made fun of the Bible's Scriptures
and mimicked preachers, with pride.
Some folks said he was an atheist up to and including the day he died.
But knowing the public favored "religious" folks,
He carefully used Scripture phrases in quotes.
Honest Abe ---Without consulting Congress, and against the civilized rules of War, and with no pity,

He ordered "total war" on civilians: killing, raping,
and destroying whole cities.

No medicine was allowed in the South that included Northern prisoners-of-war and slaves, Causing severe suffering and sending folks
to their graves.

Honest Abe ---Confederate President Jefferson Davis
suffered two years in prison for two long years, Never brought to trial because his proving innocence
of treason was probably the North's fear.

Honest Abe --- When he was shot and killed, his fellow politicians who did not respect him when he was alive, Decided to make him a hero, a saint, and a martyr after he was murdered and died.

Honest Abe ---Now we have politically correct statements that he was the greatest President the U.S. ever had.

The national monument, the Lincoln Memorial, is in D.C., looking so noble, kind and sad.

His face is on Mount Rushmore, and what is worse,
his face is on 5-dollar bills and pennies in my purse.

Q: What federal official argued against putting captured Confederate officers on trial for treason with these words: "If you bring these leaders to trial it will condemn the North, for by the Constitution secession is not rebellion?"

A: Chief Justice of the US Supreme Court, Salmon P. Chase
